Thankful for Their Doctor and a Better Quality of Life.

Bionic Couple

Every morning, before her feet touch the floor, Sharon Fogle of Lewisburg thanks God for a good night's sleep, the day ahead, her artificial knees and Dr. Ronald DiSimone.

Four artificial knees between Sharon and her husband, Harold, have friends calling them the "bionic couple." Dr. DiSimone, their orthopedic surgeon, has "amazing expertise while being humble, intelligent, caring and honest," says Sharon. He is the reason their lives have been revitalized and their debilitating pain has been eliminated, allowing them to pursue the work and hobbies they love once again.

When asked why they traveled more than 20 miles to Williamsport Regional Medical Center for surgery and follow-up care when there are hospitals close by, Harold says, "You just don't argue with success."

Sharon, 63, discovered Dr. DiSimone in 1998. She was 48 and had already spent two lifetimes on her feet working as a nurse by day and helping Harold with chores on their dairy farm in the evenings and on weekends. Her knees were so badly deteriorated that she was taking 16 pain pills to get through each day. Local doctors told her she was too young for knee replacement surgery. In her work as a visiting nurse she heard patients speak highly of Dr. DiSimone in Williamsport. Knowing little else about him, she took a leap of faith and scheduled her first appointment.

"What I appreciated about Dr. DiSimone from the beginning was his honesty. He told me I had end-stage osteoarthritis, and that while I was young for an artificial knee, I would soon be spending my days in a wheelchair. I wouldn't be able to do my job. It was up to me to decide what quality of life I wanted,” Sharon explains.

She had her first knee replacement surgery in May 1998. She waited until January 2000 for her second knee replacement, which she calls the “new millennium knee.”

“Dr. DiSimone’s post-op concern about my pain and comfort was surprising. That a surgeon would care that much spoke volumes to me,” says Sharon, who returned to Dr. DiSimone for surgery to repair carpal tunnel syndrome in November 2011. “Every time I went to the operating room, I felt confident and at peace. I told him, ‘I have the best team, the good Lord and you,’ and he responded, ‘It must have been mostly the Lord and all of your hard work.’

That’s just how humble he is.”

Without her surgeries, Sharon’s nursing career, a dream since childhood, would have ended. Now she works full-time as a community health nurse for the area’s Agency on Aging. She is thankful that her artificial knees made her physically able to delivery route with the United States Postal Service. Dr. DiSimone began treating him with cortisone injections in 2007, but Harold needed them more and more frequently. Due to the pain, he got just three hours of sleep at night. His efforts to lose weight diminished as he became care for her mother before her recent death.

Harold, 64, has had trouble with his knees since childhood. He hoped to “keep them going” until he retired from his rural less and less active, and Sharon worried when she watched him come home from work. He wasn’t walking, he was “lumbering.”

Harold Fogle, Dr. Ronald DiSimone and Sharon Fogle

“Susquehanna Health is just stellar; the people are wonderful wherever you go... I’ve been in nursing for 46 years, and I know excellent care when I see it.” –Sharon Fogle

In January 2009, Harold had his first knee replaced and scheduled his second knee replacement just five months later.

“I’ve got a much better quality of life,” he says. “When I run into people who haven’t seen me, they notice a difference. They say, ‘We haven’t seen you walk like that for ages!’”

Now retired after 35 years with the Postal Service, Harold, who rented out the farm several years ago because of his physical limitations, helps his brother with a mulch delivery business. In addition to her job, Sharon stays active by walking each day.

As a nurse, Sharon knows that the team behind Dr. DiSimone helps with his success.

“Susquehanna Health is just stellar; the people are wonderful wherever you go, from the patient room to the gift shop,” she says.

“My sister and mother each had surgeries there too, and everyone just had excellent care. I’ve been in nursing for 46 years, and I know excellent care when I see it.”

Harold agrees, noting that prior to his surgery at age 62, he had never been hospitalized before, yet he felt completely at ease the whole time.

“A lot of people today dismiss and separate the medical from the spiritual part of your life,” Sharon explains. “We wouldn’t have had the medical part without the spiritual. It’s His strength and grace that gives angels charge over us every day. I think that including that element of spirituality with their care is why Susquehanna Health is so stellar.”

Last December when reading about Susquehanna Health’s Project 2012 and the new Susquehanna Tower, Harold was inspired to make a Keystone Society contribution as a tribute to Dr. DiSimone.

“I thought, how often do people get to hear the good side of things and how very much they’re appreciated?” Harold says. “We’re just so deeply grateful for how Dr. DiSimone improved our quality of life.”

COMING
SEPTEMBER 2012

Tools on the website help you strategize and tailor your gift.

- Make the greatest charitable impact while maximizing personal benefits.
- A series of newsletters will support the website with in-depth articles and information about charitable and planned giving.

NEW WEBSITE SIMPLIFIES PLANNED GIVING

"We're making it easier for our donors to make a gift to the health system," explains Tom O'Connell, Director of Major and Planned Gifts for Susquehanna Health. "Using these tools they can walk through different types of gifts to see what best fits their needs based on factors such as their age or their interests."

Now you can use the interactive website to evaluate giving options, plan a gift and see just how it will benefit the health system.

The last capital campaign revealed a need to communicate the numerous options and benefits of planned giving. The website and newsletters will help fill that gap by educating prospective donors and their advisors, simplifying the donation process, and maximizing the benefits for all involved.

"What we are creating is a unique resource that can really benefit all community charities," says Tom. "This will be a library of information to help donors gain a clear understanding of how their gifts can make the most impact both for the charitable organizations they want to help and for their current financial picture or that of their heirs."

Interactive website tools will help the Foundation get to know current and potential donors better and communicate areas of need for the health system. The stories behind donations will be shared along with in-depth articles on subjects such as trusts and estate planning.

"Enhancing our relationships with donors is at the center of these upgrades," says Tom. "Through stronger relationships at the front end, we can ensure that financial gifts are used according to our donors' wishes and designated for areas of need within the health system. This also helps us recognize and show appreciation to our donors, including those who have designated Susquehanna Health in their estate planning. Of course we're happy to receive all donations, but particularly when a surprise donation comes through an estate, we've missed the opportunity to build that relationship and say 'thank you.'"

Contact Tom O'Connell, Director of Major and Planned Gifts, at (570) 320-7612 or toconnell@susquehannahealth.org for an appointment to discuss how you can tailor your donation to maximize your charitable impact.

The Donor REPORT

In January 2008, we reorganized our giving levels to recognize our donors beginning with the Capital Campaign for Project 2012. In the next several pages you will find the categories and their brief descriptions as well as the giving levels within each category.

Donors are listed through April 30, 2012.

Extraordinary Ladies

Merilee Baxter, Dr. Susan Branton, Kimberlee Williams and Richard Williams gathered after dinner at the Kathryn Candor Lundy Breast Health tournament. Kimberlee, a breast cancer survivor, is photographed with her care team, who fought the battle with her. She shared her moving story of her life before being diagnosed to hearing the words that she had cancer to learning she was cancer free.

On June 4, 2012, the Williamsport Country Club was adorned in shades of pink for the 11th Annual Kathryn Candor Lundy Breast Health Center Women's Golf Tournament.

This extraordinary ladies-only golf tournament raised more than $47,500 to enhance services at Susquehanna Health's Kathryn Candor Lundy Breast Health Center.

Over the years, more than $400,000 has been raised for the Center by this event. Along with the financial support of the women who play, contributions and sponsorships are received from individuals, local businesses and community groups.

Proceeds from the tournaments have assisted with the purchases of a specimen radiograph unit, ultrasound systems, biopsy devices and additional imaging equipment. These tools help breast physicians and radiologists make the most accurate breast disease diagnoses while providing appropriate treatment for the best outcomes.

HOPE

Clinical Trials Offer Hope Now and for Future Generations

17

When Carol Kell had a double mastectomy to treat breast cancer, doctors discovered her aggressive cancer had spread to her lymph nodes.

Her oncologist presented all of her treatment options, one of which was a clinical trial.

When she heard participating in a clinical trial could help with cancer research, breast cancer patient Carol Kell, 58, of Renovo didn't hesitate to sign up.

"If I could make things better for someone in the future, then absolutely I wanted to do it," she says.

Susquehanna Health Cancer Center has been a partner with Penn State

Hershey Cancer Institute and a member of the Eastern Cooperative Oncology Group (ECOG) since 2007. These affiliations enable the Cancer Center to provide patients local access to a broad spectrum of medical oncology and radiation oncology clinical trials with the specific aim of treating and preventing cancer. Data from clinical trials are necessary for a new drug or treatment to be approved by governing agencies such as the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

"Offering clinical trials benefits our patients by making an emerging treatment available when it is not yet approved as a standard of care," says Dr. Warren Robinson, FACP, an oncologist at the Cancer Center. "We want people to know what we have here, and that our patients can have access to new research treatments without traveling out of the area. Clinical trials advance the science of medicine."

Participation in clinical trials also helps the Cancer Center maintain its quality and enhances the skills of our physicians.”

An internal review board at the Cancer Center selects trials that best match the patients and cancers they commonly see and are expected to improve the health and welfare of the community they serve. There are currently open trials for the treatments of breast, colorectal, lung and kidney cancers as well as melanoma, myelodysplastic syndrome and myeloma.

“I figured if I was going to go through this anyway, why not do it in a way that they can learn something that would help someone down the line,” says Carol.

This included education about the treatment plan, potential risks and side effects from treatment, and the visits and tests required to participate in the trial. This process of communication among a patient, physician and research nurse is known as the informed consent process.

“We make sure potential trial patients understand the full impact of the trial,” says Sue. “We also stress that the decision to participate in a clinical trial resides with the patient. Trial participation is voluntary, and the patient has the option to discontinue participation at any time.”

For patients participating in clinical trials, Sue serves as an additional member on their cancer care team. As research nurse coordinator, she

I had a question or a problem, I called Sue, and she responded right away. I felt special and cared for. I was very pleased with the timeliness and attention to every issue that I had.”

Carol is presently cancer free and is getting back to the activities she enjoyed prior to her diagnosis.

The Cancer Center is the 2012 recipient of a commendation rating by attends all physician visits, administers the treatment, helps manage side effects and acts as the patient’s healthcare navigator and advocate during the clinical trial. “The care is the same that all patients at our Cancer Center receive. But the patients like always being in contact with the same person,” says Sue. “I am closely involved in every aspect of the patient’s care.”

In Carol’s case, the trial compared the effectiveness of chemotherapy with different intensities and frequencies of doses. She received treatment every other week from October 2011 through March 2012.

“It was difficult at times, and I had some complications,” says Carol. “But it’s hard on everyone. Whenever the American College of Surgeons as a comprehensive community cancer program. “In terms of establishing new medical standards over the years, we have seen trials lead to better treatments, outcomes and less toxicity for patients. This is another way we’re bringing leading-edge care to the region,” says Dr. Robinson.

Dancing TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

We gratefully acknowledge the dedicated members of the Central PA Square and Round Dance Association, who come together every fall and spring to raise money to support cardiac and cancer services at Susquehanna Health. The spring dance to benefit the Susquehanna Health Cancer Center enabled them to make a $501 contribution, and last fall's dance to support the Heart & Vascular Institute led to a donation of $541. Since 2005, six different dance clubs from State College, Selinsgrove, Danville, Bloomsburg and Wellsboro have raised more than $6,000 from the square dances held at Divine Providence Hospital.

The Legacy Society recognizes those who made a planned or estate gift to Susquehanna Health Foundation.

Ahead of her time

CELEBRATING A WOMAN'S SPIRIT AND TIRELESS DEVOTION

On Mother's Day weekend, Joanne "Johnny" Lamade's family celebrated her life and her time spent as a volunteer and board member for Susquehanna Health. The Lamade Family, through donations, created a statue of Johnny to place in the Healing Garden in front of the new Susquehanna Tower. This sculpture is dedicated to honor all volunteers and the life of Johnny to recognize her devotion to The Williamsport Hospital and her tireless efforts to promote volunteerism and service. Her tenacious spirit earned her the appointment as the first woman on The Williamsport Hospital Board, on which she served for 20 years.

Remarkable Gifts From a Remarkable Lady

Remarkable. That's how many remember Alice Corbett. Volunteering until the end of her life at age 98 on December 8, 2011, Alice touched many lives with her service. She also made a lasting legacy with financial gifts to the organizations that meant so much to her.

Alice, who was born April 8, 1913, came to Williamsport in 1957 when her husband, Charles, was transferred as part of his work. She joined Annunciation Catholic Church and within the year joined the Divine Providence Hospital Auxiliary. She volunteered at Divine Providence Hospital the rest of her life—more than 50 years.

A devoted mother, she raised two children, Tom and Patricia, and worked for the state for more than 28 years, retiring in 1978.

"She always had to be busy doing something," recalls her son, Tom. "Volunteering is what she liked to fill her time with after retirement."

At Annunciation she helped with church dinners, wedding receptions and other parties. At St. Anthony's Center she prepared dried foods to be sent to Third World countries. At Divine Providence Hospital she held various leadership positions with the Auxiliary. Tom recalls "helping" her make copious batches of peanut butter fudge for the hospital's annual bazaars when he was young. She also volunteered in pre-admission testing and the gift shop, and, in her final years, at Susquehanna Health Home Care & Hospice.

She also volunteered for Meals on Wheels and the American Red Cross and even became a 5-gallon blood donor.

After her retirement Alice began playing the card game bridge and played up to four times a week for the rest of her life.

"She was a people person for sure," says Tom. "She came home tired but happy. That was her thing. That was her life after she retired—enjoying her family, volunteering and bridge."

Tom says Alice rarely splurged on items for herself. But over the years she made generous contributions to the organizations she believed in. She supported Divine Providence Hospital financially for more than 20 years and provided for a final Signature Gift to the hospital upon her death through two annuities.

"Alice was very generous to the hospital over the years," says Tom O'Connell, Director of Major and Planned Gifts for Susquehanna Health. "She made many anonymous cash gifts and gifts in honor of loved ones. She always gave very thoughtfully."

With her final gift Alice asked that she and her husband, Charles, be recognized at the Sisters of Christian Charity's convent located at The Meadows. Her son, Tom, says it's a fitting legacy based on a lifetime of fond memories she had working with the sisters at St. Anthony's and Divine Providence Hospital.

Honor Your Doctor

NATIONAL DOCTOR'S DAY

Heartfelt Thanks

For the second year, Susquehanna Health Foundation designated Doctor's Day, March 30, as an opportunity for patients and their families to show appreciation to the caregivers who have touched their lives. This year, the community nearly doubled its response with more than 560 notes of appreciation in honor of 163 physicians, middle-level providers, nurses and support staff. In addition to the notes, more than $19,400 was donated in honor of the physicians and staff.

Dr. Edward Wyshock,
You have saved my life more than once. Because of your great care, I have been able to enjoy my life. Every day is a blessing! I am so grateful to you and your excellent care. You have given me the precious gift of life, which allows me to enjoy my family!

Susquehanna Health President and CEO Steve Johnson, President and CEO of Divine Providence Hospital Robert Kane, Dr. Edward Wyshock and Administrative Director of Cancer Services/Director of Nursing Michelle Gaida

The handwritten notes of appreciation were delivered on Doctor's Day. Many included heartfelt sentiments like the one above.

Susquehanna Health President and CEO Steve Johnson presented Dr. Edward Wyshock a special award for receiving the most notes of appreciation, just as he did last year. Doctors who received notes and donations in their honor expressed surprise and thanks for the special recognition.

5 WEEKS

before Jessica's April 15 due date everything was going according to plan.

With her pregnancy progressing normally and contractors nearly finished with work in their home, Jessica and Ryan planned a weekend visit with family in Pittsburgh.

Thankful for Great Care— and All the Little Things Too

Plans changed when Jessica's water broke in the middle of the night.

It was March 14, and she was in labor five weeks ahead of schedule.

At The Birthplace, doctors and nurses helped Jessica and Ryan stay calm. They were confident and matter of fact about precautions they would take for their premature baby.

After a little more than 17 hours, Maxson was born, weighing 5 pounds and 7 ounces. He cried right away—a good sign—but he was also wheezing a little. Jessica held him for just a few minutes before he went to the Level II Nursery for monitoring, oxygen and an IV. It would be two and a half days before Ryan or Jessica could hold their son again.

"That was a strange time for us," Jessica explains. "We could only watch him in the nursery. It was very difficult, but the staff was wonderful about it. They were very caring and understanding, just ready to do anything for us."

Right away Jessica worked with the lactation consultant, a breastfeeding expert, with the hope of breastfeeding her baby when he was ready.

"During those first few days, I felt like pumping breast milk was the only thing I could do for him. It was one thing I had control over," Jessica says.

At three days, Jessica introduced Maxson to breast milk fed through a tiny pipette. As his condition stabilized and he became stronger, she transitioned to bottle and direct breastfeeding.

During the next couple of weeks Ryan and Jessica stayed in a room close to the Level II Nursery so they could wake Maxson every three hours to feed him. Each feeding had to be completed within 30 minutes to benefit him. After his initial drop in weight, he began gaining a half ounce to an ounce every day.

His long hospital stay was emotionally tiring for Ryan and Jessica, but the hospital staff helped Jessica asked how she could thank them for their kindness.

"They said we didn't need to do anything, but we were just so touched, we really wanted to show our appreciation," Jessica says. "That's when we decided to make the donation."

Jessica and Ryan honored The Birthplace staff at Williamsport

"Everyone working in the unit—nurses, housekeeping staff—asked about Maxson by name, and that meant so much."

—Jessica

brighten their days. When Jessica arrived for Maxson's 2 am feeding on her birthday, the night nurses surprised her with a birthday card from Maxson placed with some snacks around his bassinet.

"Those little things just really helped. The hospitality and welcoming feeling were overwhelming," Jessica says. "Everyone working in the unit—nurses, housekeeping staff—asked about Maxson by name, and that meant so much."

Regional Medical Center with a financial gift showing gratitude for the care that they and their newborn son, Maxson, received during his birth and subsequent stay in the Level II Nursery.

After three weeks, Maxson could go home. Jessica and Ryan are happy to report that he is thriving and developmentally on track—even learning to flash his beautiful baby smile.

THE NEW BIRTHPLACE IN SUSQUEHANNA TOWER

Labor & Delivery Room in The New Birthplace

The Birthplace, our newest bundle of joy at Susquehanna Health, opened its doors in June with brand-new amenities for growing families. A product of Susquehanna Health's Project 2012, the new Birthplace is located in Susquehanna Tower at Williamsport Regional Medical Center. While continuing to provide the same amazing care, The Birthplace now features a welcoming, scenic view, advanced technology and exclusive amenities.

Luxurious Room Amenities

The new Birthplace was built with comfort in mind, aiming to be a home away from home for the more than 1,200 mothers who give birth at Susquehanna Health each year. Along with the addition of six labor and delivery rooms and 17 private post-partum rooms, the new facility features first-class amenities, including:

- flat-screen televisions
- entertainment systems for watching movies
- wireless Internet
- mini-refrigerators
- comfortable sleep space for fathers or a support guest
- pampering toiletries for mom

Every Susquehanna mother receives the utmost care and support to ensure a great start for her baby. This includes the expertise of four certified lactation consultants, who are always available to help breastfeeding mothers. Despite all the recent changes, one Birthplace tradition remains the same—all mothers and family members are offered our popular five-star celebration meal post-delivery!

More Space, More Functionality

The cohesive unit is built around the unique needs of laboring and post-partum moms and their newborns. An efficient new design promotes family bonding, superior care and teaching. New nursing stations located outside every two patient rooms will help staff respond quickly to patient needs. Additional unit features include:

- six private labor and delivery rooms
- operating room with two recovery areas
- five-bed Level II Nursery for babies 32 weeks and up
- four-bed pre-natal evaluation and testing area
- 15-bed newborn nursery

A new conference area just outside The Birthplace is the convenient, comfortable location for childbirth education classes and the popular new mothers' group, Baby Café. There is also an area for outpatient lactation consults by appointment.

The benefits of the new Birthplace go far beyond what the eye can see. Experience the miracle for yourself. Find out more about The Birthplace at SusquehannaHealth.org/Birthplace.

GRANT PUSHES THE BIRTHPLACE TOWARD BABY-FRIENDLY DESIGNATION

The First Community Foundation Partnership of Pennsylvania awarded The Birthplace with a $47,956 Williamsport Locoming Community Fund grant toward achieving Baby-Friendly status.

Baby-Friendly is a National Initiative for Children's Healthcare Quality designation given to hospitals that make quality improvements to support mothers and babies so they are able to breastfeed. The percentage of mothers who breastfeed is higher in Baby-Friendly hospitals, and breastfeeding is one of the most effective preventive measures a mother can take to protect the health of her infant.

"Our lactation support already sets our Birthplace apart from other maternity services," explains Patsy Miller, Director of Mother/Baby/Child at Susquehanna Health's Birthplace. "Additional steps toward achieving Baby-Friendly status will enhance that component of care to give moms and babies the very best start."

The core of the Baby-Friendly Initiative are the Ten Steps to Successful Breastfeeding—science-based practices established by the World Health Organization and UNICEF and endorsed by the American Academy of Pediatrics.

The Birthplace will use the grant money to help nurses achieve the required 18 hours of training to assist with breastfeeding as well as to support education for inpatients, outpatients and the community about the importance of breastfeeding. Funds will also be used for development of a Baby Café at the James V. Brown Library in Williamsport. The Baby Café takes breastfeeding support to a neutral and convenient community location. The sessions will coincide with infant story times and be facilitated by a lactation consultant who will provide verbal or hands-on assistance with breastfeeding. Moms can stay beyond the one-hour meeting time to network.

For more information on the Baby Café, please visit:
SusquehannaHealth.org/Birthplace.

Wish List

Susquehanna Health Foundation has asked our patient care managers to share their wish lists—items that operational funding cannot cover this year. The Foundation is asking the community to provide the necessary funds to purchase the items below.

☐ One HALO Sleep Sack ($7.05)

The Birthplace

In a sleep sack, the baby is warm, swaddled and does not need any additional covering. The Birthplace has had great outcomes with its safe sleep education and initiatives in collaboration with the Lycoming County Coroner's Office and Cribs for Kids. There was only one SIDS-related death in Lycoming County in 2011 compared to four in 2009. More than 1,200 sleep sacks are needed annually.

☐ Grief Support Books for Children ($50)

Heartworks

The Heartworks Grief Support Program needs books on grief support for children.

☐ Assist Social Services with Helping Those Less Fortunate ($100)

Williamsport Regional Medical Center

This program would allow Social Services and Nursing to purchase a variety of items that patients do not have or are unable to obtain. Examples are a discharge prescription that is not covered by insurance, cab fare to return home, clothing to wear home, etc.

☐ Books for 50 Pediatric Patients ($200)

Same Day Services

Books are provided to all pediatric patients who are having a surgical procedure. This gives the child something to focus on other than the surgery.

☐ One Temporal Thermometer ($321.48)

Susquehanna Health Cancer Center

Currently the chemotherapy nurses are using ear thermometers for patients being treated at the Cancer Center. The patients often have hearing aids that must be removed to take a temperature, which causes them discomfort.

☐ The temporal thermometer would provide a hassle- and pain-free way of taking routine temperatures.

☐ First Aid and CPR Instruction for the Sports Medicine Camp ($500)

Sports Medicine

☐ "Mass Box" ($700)

Pastoral Care

The box contains all necessary sacramental items for our Priest Chaplain to celebrate Mass in the new Susquehanna Tower Chapel.

☐ One Year of Grief Support Services for One Child ($1,000)

Heartworks

Heartworks is a free program for children ages 4 to 17 who have recently experienced a loss of a loved one.

☐ One King Vision Portable Video Laryngoscope ($1,109)

Pre-hospital Services

This technology would allow the ambulance services to provide prompt and proven effective emergency and life-saving secured airway control to residents of our region.

☐ One Recliner ($1,700)

Muncy Valley Hospital

A recliner could be provided to both clinically aid the recovery of patients as well as help them to feel at home during their extended stay with us.

☐ Pediatric Resuscitation Cart ($4,800)

Muncy Valley Hospital Emergency Department

☐ Exercise Equipment ($5,000)

Cardiac Rehab Program

Cardiac Rehabilitation is a customized program of exercise and education. Cardiac rehabilitation is designed to help patients recover from a heart attack, other forms of heart disease or surgery to treat heart disease.

If you would like to make a gift to purchase one or more of the Wish List items, please enclose your check in the magazine's attached envelope and make a note of which item(s) you wish to purchase. You can also make a gift by going online to SusquehannaHealth.org/Donate and making a note in the comments section.

Marie B. Zurinsky

To Dr. Daniel Glunk "You were there when my esophagus 'blew a gasket' telling me I'd be ok, that night calling the hospital to see how I was, and me waking in the morning to your smiling face. I was afraid, and you took the fear away! You take wonderful care of me, and I take better care of my health because of you."

To Dr. Scott Croll "On occasion, we witness people performing their jobs with the diligence and effort that go beyond what is expected. Dr. Croll certainly fits that description, not only as a wonderful surgeon but also a kind human being. This observation was made over several visits and was not always directed toward me, which only reinforces my opinion of his genuine kindness toward his patients and colleagues. In a world of less personal service, Susquehanna Health and Dr. Croll are exceptions to this norm."

'Cash from Trash' program benefits Susquehanna Health

John Houser, Frank Lundy III and Lon Myers of Lundy Construction presented Steve Johnson, President & CEO of Susquehanna Health, a check for $5,932.75. Lundy Construction utilized Staiman Recycling to salvage materials from Susquehanna Health projects and then generously made a donation back to the health system from the proceeds.

Make A Big Impact, A Little At A Time.

You may not realize it, but you have the power to make a difference in the lives of our patients every day through your contributions to Susquehanna Health.

When you join a new generation of donors through Donation Automation, your charitable giving becomes automatic and effortless. Your monthly donation of $25 or more will be withdrawn from the account of your choice and will allow you to achieve leadership giving as a member of The Keystone Society at a pace that is comfortable for you.

No Checks to Write! No Stamps to buy! No invoicing!
Now that's easy!

Enjoy the convenience of Donation Automation and watch every dollar of your gift make a difference in healthcare for your community.

If you have questions about Donation Automation or would like to join, please contact Amanda Wallace, Annual Giving Coordinator, at (570) 326-8687 or awallace@susquehannahealth.org
